

CAMPAIGN MODE

INTRODUCTION

The following are rules for Malifaux Fourth Edition campaign mode! This is a supplement to Malifaux Fourth Edition (M4E), so you will still need a core rulebook, models, stat cards, a fate deck, and all of the usual odds and ends used while playing Malifaux. This game mode is designed to give you a way to link multiple games together to create one long, interactive story. You and your friends will agree on a length of time the campaign will last; over that time, your models will gain injuries, find unique weapons, and learn new skills. Due to the character driven nature of the Malifaux setting, this is a perfect way to experience the game while guiding your crews through trials and tribulations. We hope you enjoy it!

WHAT IS DIFFERENT?

Campaign games sometimes require some extra setup before the game, but are otherwise generally played using the same rules as normal Malifaux. After the game is finished, you will determine what happened to your injured crew members, try to find new equipment for survivors, and calculate experience for your crew's leader. These changes will carry over from game to game until the campaign is completed.

A COMMUNITY FOCUS

This book was designed with community in mind. Nothing happens in a vacuum, and Malifaux is a very community-oriented game. Having a set place and time to gather everyone together once a week is ideal. However, games may be played asynchronously online or in person, whatever suits the needs of your group. Regardless, there will be a certain level of organization required so it may be a good idea to charge one person with helping to organize.

A FEW TERMS

Here are a few terms which you may come across. These will be discussed in more depth later, but it can be useful to have a general definition up front.

Aftermath Hand: A hand of cards used to cheat fate during the Aftermath Step. See page 20.

Aftermath Step: The Aftermath Step happens after each campaign game and determines what happens to the crew. This includes gaining injuries, acquiring new equipment, and other exciting things. See page 20.

Annihilated: If a model or upgrade is annihilated, it is permanently removed from its arsenal. See page 20.

Barter Flips: Barter flips are earned during a game and determine the equipment your crew may purchase during the Aftermath Step. See page 21.

Injuries: Injuries are campaign-only upgrades which models may suffer if they are killed during games. See page 34.

Scrip: Scrip is currency earned as your crew plays in the campaign. It can be spent on new models, equipment, and removing injuries. See page 21.

ARSENALS

An arsenal is a list of models, equipment, etc. that a player has available to hire when playing a campaign game. Hiring crews for a campaign encounter is done as normal, except that all models and equipment hired must be listed on the crew's arsenal. A crew does not need to hire its entire arsenal during an encounter. For example, you may eventually find yourself with 50 soulstones of models in your arsenal, from which you could hire a 35 soulstone crew to complete a single encounter. Players will keep track of their arsenals on arsenal sheets (available on page 56 and for download from wyrd-games.net). The arsenal sheet will also be used to track any injuries, equipment, and other things that come up during the campaign. Most notably, players will build the leader of their crew from a blank slate and track their leader's progress as they gain experience, which is all done on the arsenal sheet. A player's arsenal sheet is always public knowledge.

CREW CARDS

Each crew begins with a simple crew card. As your leader gains experience, you will earn opportunities to add more actions or abilities to your crew card. Any effects on your campaign crew card apply to all of your models that share a keyword with your leader, unless otherwise specified.

STARTING THE CAMPAIGN

Your group must first decide how long your campaign will last. We recommend a campaign length of anywhere between 4 and 12 weeks. Designate one day each week to resolve weekly events. This day should be the day that most people will be free to show up and play, but everyone does not need to be present when you do so.

At the start of the first week, each player must declare a faction, choose keywords, build their leader, hire their starting arsenal, and choose their starting crew card.

Declare a Faction

Declaring a faction is done the same way as declaring a faction for an encounter, only it will last for the entire campaign.

Choose Keywords

Each player chooses two keywords, at least one of which contains a model belonging to their declared faction. You may hire models from either of these keywords without penalty. Models added to your arsenal from one of these keywords permanently gain the second keyword for the duration of the campaign.

Remember: If your keywords are from two different factions, you may hire models from both keywords at printed cost, but may only hire out of keyword and versatile models from your singular declared faction, not both.

Example: A player chooses Redchapel and M&SU as their keywords, with their faction being Resurrectionists. The player may add M&SU models to their arsenal but they may not take other Arcanist models (like Arcanist versatiles). However, they may take Resurrectionist versatiles because it is their declared faction.

Build Your Leader

Your leader automatically gains both of your chosen keywords and the master characteristic, but there is much more to a leader. You must name them, select one of five archetypes for them to follow, and choose abilities and actions (pg. 17).

Hire Starting Arsenal

Each player has 25 soulstones to add models into their starting arsenal. Players do not spend any soulstones to add their leader into their arsenal. When a model with either of a player's chosen keywords is added into their arsenal, that model automatically and permanently gains the player's other chosen keyword.

Each soulstone a player chooses not to spend during this step becomes one scrip, up to a maximum of three scrip (see scrip, page 21).

Choose Starting Crew Card

Your crew starts the campaign with a basic crew card with one action or ability, although the crew card may be modified later. Choose one of the following effects to apply to your starting crew card:

Expert Coordination

Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following ability:

Expert Coordination: When this model activates, it may drain a ♦ to move up to 3".

Shape the Landscape

When this crew card effect is selected, choose a marker listed on a crew card belonging to a master with either of this crew's keywords. Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following ability:

Shape the Landscape: When this model activates, it may drain a ♦ to make the chosen marker within 1".

Heavy Blow

Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following ability:

Heavy Blow: When this model deals damage to an enemy with an action, it may drain a ♦ to deal +1 damage.

Prepared For Anything

Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following ability:

Prepared For Anything: When this model activates, it may drain a ♦ to declare the Prepare action.

Scavenger's Instinct

Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following ability:

Scavenger's Instinct: When this model kills an enemy model, it may drain a ♦ to draw a card and heal 1.

Inhuman Determination

Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following ability:

Inhuman Determination: When this model activates, it may drain a ♦ to heal 2 and move up to 1".

Loot Their Stash

Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following action:

|                            | Rg | Skl | Rst | TN | Dmg |
|----------------------------|----|-----|-----|----|-----|
| ♦♦ Loot Their Stash | -  | -   | -   | -  | -   |

This model must be completely on the enemy table half. Flip a card, which may not be cheated. This model attaches an equipment upgrade with a BR equal to the card's value. This equipment does not affect your campaign rating. Annihilate this equipment after this game.

Sadistic Blow

Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following action:

|                         | Rg    | Skl | Rst | TN | Dmg |
|-------------------------|-------|-----|-----|----|-----|
| ♦♦ Sadistic Blow | ///1" | 5   | Df  | -  | 2   |

If this attack receives a raise, the target gains an Injured token.

Unusual Specialty

When this crew card effect is selected, choose a token listed on a crew card belonging to a master with either of this crew's keywords. Fast and Aetheric Surge tokens may not be chosen. Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following ability:

Unusual Specialty: When this model activates, it may drain a ♦ to gain the chosen token.

The Plan Comes Together

Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following action:

|                                   | Rg | Skl | Rst | TN | Dmg |
|-----------------------------------|----|-----|-----|----|-----|
| ♦♦ The Plan Comes Together | 6" | 0   | -   | 5  | -   |

Ally only. The target may move up to 3", and then declare the Interact action targeting a Strategy marker.

Forbidden Curse

When this crew card effect is selected, choose a token listed on a crew card belonging to a master with either of this crew's keywords.

Flicker and Summon tokens may not be chosen. Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following action:

|                           | Rg  | Skl | Rst | TN | Dmg |
|---------------------------|-----|-----|-----|----|-----|
| ♦♦ Forbidden Curse | ✚6" | 5   | Wp  | -  | -   |

The target gains the chosen token.

Specialized Tools

When this crew card effect is selected, choose an upgrade type listed on a master, crew card associated with a master, or totem (including upgrade types listed on actions and abilities) belonging to either of this crew's keywords. For example, a player with the Kin keyword could choose the Improvised Enhancement upgrade type listed in Ophelia LaCroix's Raid Boss ability. Non-peon models in this crew with either of your chosen keywords gain the following action:

|                             | Rg  | Skl | Rst | TN | Dmg |
|-----------------------------|-----|-----|-----|----|-----|
| ♦♦ Specialized Tools | ✚6" | 5   | Wp  | 11 | -   |

This action may target allies. Attach an upgrade of the chosen type to the target.

BUILDING A LEADER

Unlike normal games of Malifaux, your campaign crew is led by a model designed by you! This is a unique character in the story of Malifaux, so you should give them a name and some sense of history. The name must not be one an existing model already has. Once this is done, choose from one of the five archetypes below to be the backbone of your new leader. This is just the beginning; your leader will grow and change as the campaign goes on.

Each archetype comes with a set list of stats and different ways to choose abilities and actions. Your leader's archetype will determine their defense (Df), willpower (Wp), speed (Sp), and health. In addition to this, the archetype will tell you how many actions and abilities your leader has and where you can choose them from.

Actions and abilities are chosen from existing Malifaux models that share at least one keyword from your leader within a specific cost range, regardless of whether the model is in your arsenal. Actions and abilities may not be selected from masters, totems, or models without a cost. Your leader will retain this action or ability for the remainder of the campaign, and it should be noted on the leader section of your arsenal sheet. The chosen action retains the same skill (Skl) and any signature symbol, but does not come with any triggers (with the exception of the Heavy Hitter archetype).

For example, if your leader is a Marshal/Witch Hunter and you get to choose an attack action on any model of cost 5 or less, your leader may choose any action from a Marshal or Witch Hunter that exists in Malifaux at that cost or below, such as the Peacebringer attack from a Death Marshal (but not the Massive Fists attack from the Witchling Thrall, as Thralls do not have a cost).

Listed here are the five archetypes and what they bring to your new leader:

LUCKY UPSTART

Df: 6   Wp: 6   Sp: 6   Health: 14

Attack Actions: Choose any one attack action from an ally of cost 6 or less.

Tactical Actions: None.

Abilities: Choose any one ability from an ally of cost 6 or less.

Special: Flip a card, which may not be cheated.

Select an equipment upgrade which corresponds to that flip's value exactly and add it to your arsenal for free. This equipment never counts towards your campaign rating. If this equipment is annihilated, add it back to your arsenal after the game.

GENERALIST

Df: 5   Wp: 5   Sp: 6   Health: 14

Attack Actions: Choose any one attack action from an ally of cost 7 or less.

Tactical Actions: Choose any one tactical action from an ally of cost 7 or less.

Abilities: Choose any one ability from an ally of cost 7 or less.

HEAVY HITTER

Df: 6   Wp: 4   Sp: 6   Health: 14

Attack Actions: Choose any one attack action from an ally of cost 10 or less. Choose one trigger on that attack action and gain that trigger on the chosen action.

Tactical Actions: Choose any one tactical action from an ally of cost 5 or less.

Abilities: None.

SCHEMER

Df: 6   Wp: 5   Sp: 7   Health: 13

Attack Actions: Choose any one attack action from an ally of cost 5 or less.

Tactical Actions: Choose any two tactical actions from an ally (or allies) of cost 8 or less.

Abilities: Choose any one ability from an ally of cost 8 or less.

TALENTED INDIVIDUAL

Df: 5   Wp: 5   Sp: 5   Health: 13

Attack Actions: Choose any one attack action from an ally of cost 6 or less.

Tactical Actions: Choose any one tactical action from an ally of cost 6 or less.

Abilities: Choose any two abilities from an ally (or allies) of cost 8 or less.

Your leader automatically gains the master characteristic. In addition, you may choose up to two characteristics (such as living or construct) for your leader. Choose a model to represent your master, then select a size (Sz) and base size which accurately reflect your chosen model. Your leader's size can be any value of 1-4. The same is true for its base size, which may be 30mm, 40mm, or 50mm. This allows you to choose, build, or convert whatever model suits you best to create your own leader. Once these are chosen, they may not change unless a game effect alters them.

Finally, you must choose how your leader advances. This determines one of the ways in which they gain experience points. Your leader may either be a Bruiser or a Strategist. A Bruiser will gain experience by killing enemies, and a Strategist will gain experience by resolving the Interact action. For more information, see page 31.

Abilities That Affect Hiring

Abilities that affect hiring may not be gained by a leader or crew card during a campaign. For example, you may not select the effect from the Riders of Fate crew card (which allows you to hire Riders) for your crew card, or Wrath's Jam Session ability (which allows you to hire Crossroads models) as an ability on your leader.

Sportsmanship

This campaign comes with a high degree of variability. This is so that you can create something that is yours and build a narrative story with a group of friends. It would be very easy to come up with broken combinations or model for advantage by, for example, insisting your leader is Sz 1 so it can't be seen when the model clearly is not. This campaign is best enjoyed by a group of like-minded people. Maybe your group enjoys a more laid-back, narrative experience. On the other hand, maybe they enjoy finding the dirtiest combo of two abilities possible using the Talented Individual leader archetype. Do whatever brings your group joy, but please try to play to your audience and don't ruin other people's good time.

START OF A NEW WEEK

The campaign is broken into weeks and will end after a certain number of weeks agreed to at the start. Each week is exactly that – one week in the real world. Over the course of a week, players may play as many games as they want. At the start of each week, on the designated day, players gather to gain new hires.

Different Increments

If a different increment of time besides a week works better for your group, feel free to adjust accordingly. If you want a "new week" to start every three days, or even every day, don't hesitate to change things up. Just make sure everyone is on the same page.

NEW HIRES

Skip this entire step during the first week of the campaign

The start of each week is the only time players may add new models to their arsenal, and every player must add at least one model. Any model which the crew may legally hire, considering the player's two chosen keywords and faction, may be added to the crew's arsenal.

To add a model to their arsenal, a player must first spend an amount of scrip equal to the model's cost. If a player wishes to add a non-versatile, out of keyword model to their arsenal, they must spend one additional scrip. The first model a player adds to their arsenal each week requires 5 fewer scrip.

Although every player must add a minimum of one new model at this time, there is no maximum; players may add as many models as they like, so long as they have the scrip.

Titled Models

When you add a model with a title to your arsenal, you automatically add all versions of that mode to your arsenal. When one title gains an injury, all titles gain the injury. The one exception is Emissaries and Effigies, which must each be added separately and track injuries separately.

SETTING UP A GAME

Setting up a campaign game of Malifaux is slightly different than usual. The modified encounter setup steps are listed here. If a step is not listed, it is not changed. One new step, the Campaign Rating step, is also added.

DETERMINE ENCOUNTER SIZE

During a campaign, the size of an encounter is limited by the models in each player's arsenal. To determine the maximum size of an encounter, add up the soulstone costs of all the models in both player's arsenals; the maximum encounter size is equal to the size of the smaller arsenal total +6. If the players agree, they can play an encounter of a smaller size than this maximum limit. For example, Nick has 27 soulstones worth of models in his arsenal, while Amy has 35 soulstones worth of models. When they play a campaign game, the maximum encounter size of their game is 33 (the soulstone total of Nick's lower arsenal total + 6). Your arsenal will likely grow larger than 50 soulstones over the course of a campaign. You may play games as large as you like, but Malifaux usually works best at 50 soulstones or less.

DECLARE FACTION AND LEADER

Each player must declare the faction and leader which they declared for the campaign.

HIRING CREW

During the hire crew step of playing the encounter, you may only hire models in your current arsenal. You do not need to hire every model in your arsenal. Your leader and totem(s) (if any) treat their cost as 0, as normal.

Remember that a model with either of your chosen keywords is considered to have both of your chosen keywords. This is important for actions or abilities that only affect allies.

EQUIPMENT

As you play, your crew will find equipment. Equipment is a form of upgrade, so rules that affect upgrades also affect equipment. A piece of equipment is represented by a single upgrade card. Any equipment in your arsenal may be attached to any model in your crew without cost when you hire your crew. The model gains any abilities and/or actions on the equipment just as it would if the upgrade were attached in a normal game of Malifaux. Although the card pack associated with this expansion only includes one copy of each upgrade, equipment is not limited and all arsenals may include any number of copies of these upgrades.

CAMPAIGN RATING

After hiring and revealing crews, determine each crew's campaign rating for the game. The campaign rating is used to help offset any unfair advantages one crew may have over the other due to advancements within the campaign.

A crew's campaign rating is equal to the total number of its pieces of equipment selected when hiring, +1 for each advancement the crew's leader and totem have received (pg. 31). Then, subtract the total number of injuries in the crew from this total.

Crews may have a negative rating. For example, Jack's crew has two pieces of equipment, his leader has two advancements, and he has one injury. This gives Jack a campaign rating of 3 (+2 for equipment, +2 for advancements, -1 for the injury). Jill's crew has one advancement on her leader, no equipment, and three injuries. Jill's crew has a campaign rating of -2.

Campaign rating affects the number of soulstones players start with when the game begins and the amount of scrip they earn after the game (pg. 21).

SOULSTONE POOL

Players may use excess soulstones from hiring to increase their pool as normal. The crew with the lower campaign rating gains a bonus number of soulstones in their pool equal to the difference in campaign ratings, to a maximum of +3 soulstones. This may exceed the usual maximum of 6 soulstones. For example, if one crew has a campaign rating of 1 and the other a rating of -1, the lower-rated crew would receive a bonus of 2 soulstones to its pool.

PLAYING

A Campaign game is played just like a regular game of Malifaux, but with a few tweaks.

STRATEGIC WITHDRAWAL

During a campaign, players not only have to worry about accomplishing objectives, but also about keeping their crew alive to fight another day. As such, it is sometimes a better idea to play a little more defensively. During the start phase of any turn, a crew may make a strategic withdrawal. The crew with initiative has the first chance to withdraw.

When a crew makes a strategic withdrawal, that crew removes all of its models from play. If the crew withdrew on or before the second turn, then that crew receives no VP, barter flips, or aftermath hand and loses any scrip earned during the game. The crew skips its entire aftermath step except to flip for injuries. The crew which did not withdraw may use any remaining turns to score VP and then complete its aftermath step normally.

If the crew withdrew on or after the third turn, then the crew that did not withdraw may use any remaining turns to try to score VP. After, compare the VP scored by each crew as usual (keeping in mind that the withdrawn crew has no models in play when the game ends).

If the crew that withdrew has fewer VP than their opponent, VP is scored as normal. However, if the withdrawn crew has as many or more VP than the opposing crew, then the crew which withdrew scores VP as normal and the opposing crew counts as scoring 1 more VP than the crew which withdrew. In this case, both crews proceed with their aftermath steps as usual.

ANNIHILATED

When something, a model, upgrade, etc., is annihilated it is removed from its crew's arsenal entirely and may not be used in subsequent campaign games. Nothing is annihilated unless explicitly stated; models which are killed or upgrades which are discarded or otherwise removed are not normally considered to be annihilated.

Even though the annihilated model or equipment is removed from its crew's arsenal, it may be acquired again if the opportunity arises, even if the model is unique.

Annihilating a Leader

The leader of your crew represents a unique thread important to the Fate of Malifaux. As such, the first time your leader would be annihilated, check off the miraculous recovery box on your arsenal sheet and ignore the result entirely, for Fate has intervened! If your leader was annihilated due to receiving a third injury and Fate intervenes, no new injury is gained but the previous two injuries remain. If your leader is annihilated for a second time during a campaign, the result stands.

If a crew's leader is annihilated, that is a devastating blow to the crew. In this case, you should retire your previous crew and form a brand-new crew following the rules for starting anew (pg. 37).

AFTERMATH

Aftermath is a special step added to every campaign game that takes place after a winner has been determined. Aftermath is used to determine what happened to the models during the course of the game. The aftermath step is broken into six phases:

PHASE 1: DRAW AFTERMATH HAND

Both players shuffle their fate decks and then draw their aftermath hands. Each player draws one card for each of the following:

- 1 card for completing the game without using strategic withdrawal.
- 1 card for each scheme your crew completed (to a maximum of 3).

Your crew is considered to have completed a scheme if you scored at least 1 VP from it. This means that a player's maximum aftermath hand size is four cards (1 card for completing the game without withdrawing, plus up to 3 cards from schemes). These cards may be used to cheat (but not empower) barter flips, advancement flips for your leader, flips for the back-alley doctor, and injury flips. As such, these flips must always be made in the proper order and one at a time. You may not flip multiple barter cards, injuries, or advancements before deciding which one to cheat; you must decide whether or not to cheat a flip before moving on to another flip. Use your aftermath hand wisely!

Once your aftermath hand is drawn, do not shuffle your deck again until the entire aftermath step is complete. This means that if you flip a black joker when you barter, you will not flip one on injuries.

PHASE 2: PAYDAY

It was a hard fight, but now it's time to collect your rewards! Each crew gains 1 scrip for every 3 VP (or portion thereof, rounded up) it earned during the game, and the winning crew gains 1 additional scrip. If a crew has a lower campaign rating (pg. 19) than the crew it opposed, then it earns an additional amount of scrip equal to the difference in campaign ratings.

Example: Your crew won and earned 4 VP, so it would gain 3 Scrip (1 scrip for the first 3 VP, another 1 Scrip for the fourth VP which rounds up, and 1 Scrip for winning).

Scrip

Scrip is used to purchase new models and equipment. It may be used in the same aftermath phase in which it was earned or saved for later; in this case, keep track of your crew's unused scrip on its arsenal sheet. Saving scrip for the start of a new week is often a good idea in order to add new models to your arsenal.

PHASE 3: BARTER

Malifaux is a big place and, even if you have the cash, you may not find what you are looking for. During this phase, make a barter flip to determine which equipment you may purchase. Each crew makes one barter flip, which may be cheated from your aftermath hand. After a crew makes a barter flip, it compares its result to the table on page 22. It may immediately purchase any equipment with a barter rating (BR) exactly equal to the barter flip's value by discarding an amount of scrip equal to the equipment's listed campaign cost (CC).

Although only one flip is made, multiple pieces of equipment may be purchased. You may always choose to purchase equipment with a BR of "always available", thus giving you some flexibility. Just because the vendor has a gatling gun doesn't mean you need a sword any less! If you do not like the result of the barter flip, it may be cheated.

Equipment

Equipment is a type of upgrade. When a crew purchases an equipment upgrade, it is added to the crew's arsenal and may be attached for free to any model that can legally attach it during the Hire Crew step of the encounter. Note that some equipment states it must be annihilated to have an effect. In this instance, the equipment is removed from the crew's arsenal entirely; it may not be used until purchased again. However, if an equipment is discarded or otherwise removed during a game without being annihilated, then it still remains in its crew's arsenal.

On the following pages is a list of equipment which may be purchased during a campaign. Their barter rating (BR) and campaign cost (CC) are noted here as well.

Those Who Thirst

These ancient relics are terrible weapons infused with the essence of infamous entities. A player may only flip on this table if there is not already a Those Who Thirst equipment in their arsenal; ignore this result if you already have one.

After flipping a red joker on your barter, you have found a vendor selling an ancient and terrible weapon. Flip again on the following table to see which one is available to you. Just like with barter flips, only the weapon with the specific value is available, not all those of a lower value as well (unless you get a 9-13).

PHASE 4: ADVANCE LEADER

As you play the campaign, your leader will gain experience points. Each time your leader gains an experience point, mark off one of the experience boxes in the leader section of your arsenal sheet. Boxes are marked in a row from left to right. If that box has a number inside of it, your leader gains one advancement.

An advancement is a permanent change to your leader and must be written down on the leader section of your arsenal sheet. These will often be actions, abilities, and triggers, but can also include totems and changes to crew cards.

When your leader gains an advancement, choose which advancement table they will select from. Advancement tables are broken into tiers numbered 1-4; the table you choose must have a tier equal to or lower than the number shown in the experience box you just checked off.

For example, if you reach an experience box with a 2 in it, you may select any advancement table in tiers 1 or 2, but not 3. Note that a leader can only receive one advancement per numbered box; once you select there is no going back. If the box is blank, your leader gained experience but no new advancement at this time. There are a number of advancement tables to choose from, allowing you to customize your leader as you go!

It is possible for a leader to receive multiple advancements during a single aftermath phase. If this happens, resolve them each one at a time in the order they are reached. If all of your leader's experience boxes are full, they no longer gain experience and may not advance any further.

Your leader gains experience for the following:

- 1 Experience Point for playing the game, every encounter teaches something.

- 1 Experience Point if your leader is a Bruiser and killed one or more non-peon enemy models.
- 1 Experience Point if your leader is a Strategist and resolves one or more Interact actions within 6" of the enemy deployment zone.
- 1 Experience Point if you lost the game. Failure is sometimes a better teacher than success.

This means your leader may gain a maximum of 3 experience points from a single game (outside of optional rules, equipment, etc.)

Tier 1 Advancement Tables

Attack Modification Advancement (pg. 38)

This table has a list of modifiers your leader can gain on one of their attack actions. When you choose to advance from this table, flip a card. You may choose one option that corresponds to the value of the card you flipped or lower. This flip may be cheated from your aftermath hand as normal. Once you have chosen an option, choose one attack action on your leader on which to apply this modifier. This modifier only applies to the selected action. If the action is one gained from equipment then your leader must always take that equipment from this point on if possible. If the equipment is annihilated the advancement is permanently lost as well.

There are three types of modifiers on this table: triggers, Skl modifiers, and signature modifiers. Triggers are the most plentiful option on this table and they will add the listed trigger to the selected action. Skl modifiers adjust the action's Skl. And signature modifiers make the action into a ♣ action.

LEADERSHIP EXPERIENCE

Below is the series of experience boxes included on every arsenal sheet.

|   |   |   |   |   |  |   |   |   |  |   |   |   |
|---|---|---|---|---|--|---|---|---|--|---|---|---|
| 1 | 1 | 2 |   | 3 |  | 4 |   | 1 |  | 2 |   | 4 |
|   |   |   | 1 |   |  | 2 | 1 |   |  |   | 3 |   |
|   |   |   | 1 |   |  |   |   | 2 |  |   |   | 4 |

When adding a trigger to an action in this manner, if the action already has two or more triggers, you must pay 2 scrip. If the action has less than two triggers, no scrip needs to be paid.

Tactical Modification Advancement (pg. 41)

This table has a list of modifiers your leader can gain on one of their tactical actions. When you choose to advance from this table, flip a card. You may choose one option that corresponds to the value of the card you flipped or lower. This flip may be cheated from your aftermath hand as normal. Once you have chosen an option, choose one tactical action on your leader on which to apply this modifier. This modifier only applies to the selected action. If the action is one gained from equipment then your leader must always take that equipment from this point on if possible. If the equipment is annihilated the advancement is permanently lost as well.

There are three types of modifiers on this table: triggers, Skl modifiers, and signature modifiers. Triggers are the most plentiful option on this table and they will add the listed trigger to the selected action. Skl modifiers adjust the action's Skl. And signature modifiers make the action into a ▼ action. When adding a trigger to an action in this manner, if the action already has two or more triggers, you must pay 2 scrip. If the action has less than two triggers, no scrip needs to be paid.

Action Advancement (pg. 44)

This table has a list of actions your leader can gain. When you choose to advance from this table, flip a card. You may choose one action that corresponds to the value of the card you flipped or lower. This flip may be cheated from your aftermath hand as normal. Select the action you like and note it on your arsenal sheet.

Ability Advancement (pg. 50)

This table has a list of abilities your leader can gain. When you choose to advance from this table, flip a card. You may choose one ability that corresponds to the value of the card you flipped or lower. This flip may be cheated from your aftermath hand as normal. Select the ability you like and note it on your arsenal sheet.

Tier 3 Advancement Tables

Totem Advancement (pg. 52)

This table has a list of totems your crew can gain. When you choose to advance from this table, flip a card. You may choose one totem that corresponds exactly to the value of the card you flipped. This flip may be cheated from your aftermath hand as normal. Select the totem you like and note it on your arsenal sheet.

You may only select an advancement from this sheet if there is not a totem in your arsenal, as you may only have one totem. Your crew now hires the totem for free like in a normal game of Malifaux; its keywords match your leader's. From this point on, any time your leader would advance, you may choose to give the advancement to your totem instead. Note any advancements on the totem section of your arsenal sheet. Choose a base size, up to two characteristics, and size for your totem which best represents the model you intend to use (in the same manner as for your leader).

Summoning Advancement (pg. 54)

This table has a list of summoning effects your leader can gain. This advancement table is different from most others because there is no flipping: the choice is entirely yours. Choose one summoning effect advancement you like and note it on your arsenal sheet for your leader to gain. This advancement may only be selected once.

Tier 4 Advancements

Crew Card Advancement

Choose an effect granted by any crew card associated with a master that has a keyword this crew chose and add it to this crew's crew card. The effect comes with any limitations it had on the original crew card, except that it will affect both of the crew's keywords instead of just one. There are also a few additional guidelines:

- Effects that reference a power bar or cause the crew card to be swapped with a different crew card may not be chosen.
- One "effect" refers to a single ability, action, or trigger. Other effects may not be chosen.

- A trigger may only be chosen in the case that a trigger is listed individually on the card, such as the Crack Skulls trigger on the Excessive Violence card.
- If an action is chosen, it will automatically come with any associated triggers.

If you do not wish to choose an effect from any existing crew card, you may instead choose one of the starting campaign crew card abilities or actions listed on pages 15-16 to add to your crew card.

Example 1: If you have Marshal and Witch Hunter as your chosen keywords, you may choose the Grave's Pull ability from the Grave Peril crew card, since it is the crew card of the Marshal master, Lady Justice, Death-Touched. If you do, the ability will be granted to all friendly Marshals and Witch Hunters instead of just friendly Marshals.

Example 2: If you have Wildfire and Experimental as your chosen keywords, you may choose the Frantic Triage action from the Limit Test crew card since that crew card is associated with the Wildfire master Kaeris, Iron-Threaded. If you do, all friendly non-peon Wildfire and Experimental models will gain the Frantic Triage action. Note that the limitation of "non-peon" is retained.

Example 3: If you have Brood and Mercenary as your chosen keywords, you may forego choosing any effects from existing crew cards and instead choose the Heavy Blow crew card ability listed on page 15 to add to your crew card. If you do, all friendly Brood and Mercenary models will gain Heavy Blow.

PHASE 5: BACK-ALLEY DOCTOR

During this phase, you may choose to visit a shady healer to try to get rid of some of your crew's injuries. You may pay 1 scrip to try and heal an injury upgrade. First, choose a model with an attached injury upgrade, then choose an injury upgrade attached to that model. You may repeat this as many times as you wish, flipping once on the table below for each injury you try to heal. This flip may be cheated from your aftermath hand. Keep in mind that the doctor keeps your scrip regardless of the result.

PHASE 6: DETERMINE INJURIES

Any non-peon model killed during the course of a game must flip to determine what injuries it suffers. Each player flips one card for each of their models that was killed during the game. These flips may be cheated using your aftermath hand. You must flip for one model at a time in any order you choose, deciding whether to cheat before moving onto the next one. If you cheat to an injury result which must be reflipped, then reflip as usual.

When a model suffers an injury, it must attach the appropriate injury upgrade. This upgrade is permanent and must always be attached to the model when it is hired. Injuries may not be removed by actions or abilities unless they specifically reference injuries. If a model flips an injury result which it already has, do not apply the result again; the model got lucky and suffers no injury this game. It is, however, possible for multiple models in one crew to have the same injury. Note that some injuries may reduce a model's stats, but no model

Injuries During a Game

Models are only annihilated for having three or more injuries at the end of the Determine Injuries phase. This means that if a model gains an injury in some other manner (such as from the Mutagen Injector equipment in the middle of a game) the model will not be annihilated by having three or more injuries until after the game, at the end of the Determine Injuries step.

may have any stat (or health) reduced below 1 in this way.

It is worth noting that not every result on the injury table attaches an injury upgrade. If a model flips the red joker, it will be able to flip on the Lucky Miss table. All of the results on the Lucky Miss table are good and do not affect the crew's crew rating (CR).

After flipping for injuries, all models with three or more injury upgrades attached are annihilated. They are simply too injured to go on!

| Any Joker  | Doppelganger            | No Lucky Miss upgrade gained. Add a copy of this model to this crew's arsenal. This copy is ignored when determining model limits for hiring, summoning, etc. The copy gains a copy of all injuries and equipment this model had this game. This may apply to leaders, in which case both are free to hire and this crew's CR is increased by 5. In the case of a leader or totem being copied, the copy never advances after this point but keeps all previous advancements. |

SUMMONED MODELS

Some models are able to summon or otherwise create new models during the course of an encounter. A crew may summon models which are not a part of its arsenal if the actions or abilities of individual models allow it. Summoned models are never entered into the crew's arsenal and never carry over from one game to another.

PEONS

Peons may be added to a crew's arsenal and hired as normal, but have some special rules. Peons may never have equipment attached, gain injuries, or be annihilated. Peons are not important enough for equipment and if they were ever to become injured, they would easily be replaced by another peon without much notice.

STARTING ANEW

A new player may wish to join a campaign part-way through, or a player may wish to scrap their current campaign crew and start a new one. In this instance, the player discards their old arsenal and assembles a new one using the usual rules for starting a campaign crew, with the exception that they will gain 5 additional scrip to hire models for each week the campaign has progressed beyond the first.

Knowing Definitions

During a campaign your models will gain all sorts of actions and abilities, so it's good to know a bit about them. Remember that if an action lists a stat under resist (such as Df or Wp) then it is an attack action. But if its resist has a - then it is a tactical action.

There are also a number of tokens and markers that can be gained. Most tokens and markers can be found in the Comprehensive Rules, and there is a list of every token and marker in the game along with their effects on malifauxrules.com.

ENDING A CAMPAIGN

At the start of the campaign, the group agreed to an allotted amount of time for the campaign to last (4-12 weeks). When the time is up, the campaign ends. Retire your arsenal sheet and, if your group decides to play another campaign, get out a new one! Your group may also decide to play a competitive campaign, in which players accrue points for the duration of the campaign to determine a winner at the end. The rules for this can be found in the "Competitive Campaign" section of the Optional Rules (pg. 147).

LEADER ADVANCEMENT TABLES

All of the leader advancement tables are included on the following pages.

Advancing a Leader Example

Jack has a new campaign crew and his leader has no experience. He just played a game in which he lost and his leader (a Bruiser) killed an enemy. This means Jack's leader gains three experience points: one for playing, one for losing, and one for being a Bruiser and killing an enemy.

Jack starts in the upper left corner of the advancement chart on his arsenal sheet and checks three boxes from left to right. The first box has a 1, so Jack may choose a tier 1 advancement chart to flip on. He chooses the Attack Modification Advancement chart, flips, and modifies one of his leader's attacks. The second box also has a 1, allowing Jack to flip again on a tier 1 advancement chart. This time he chooses the Tactical Modification Advancement Chart, he flips, and adds the advancement to his leader.

The third box has a 2, so Jack may choose to flip on any tier 1 or tier 2 chart! Jack chooses the Attack Modification Chart again, flips, and notes the change to his leader. Jack is finished advancing his leader.

As the campaign goes on, if Jack fills all 13 of the boxes in the first row of his leader's advancement chart, he will drop down to the second row and continue advancing there from left to right.

CARD NAME

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are approximately 20 lines visible. The paper has a slightly textured appearance and some very faint, light-colored smudges or marks, particularly towards the bottom right corner. The edges of the paper are slightly irregular, suggesting it might be a scan of a physical document.
